Palace Statement In British Speech Brings Wide Protests

Sir Stafford Cripps, Laborite, Who Delivered Political Address, Says He Meant Advisers of King, Not His Majesty. But Press and Leaders Say Explanation Is Inadequate

He Declares Against Change: By Violence

By George Himmelman
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, Jan. 8.—Sir Stafford Cripps's explanation of his reference to Buckingham Palace in a speech last Saturday evening, to-day failed to stem the storm of criticism he has brought on himself. From all sides he was under attack for his remark that on the return of the Labor Party to power "there is no doubt we shall have to overcome opposition from Buckingham Palace and other places as well."

His statement that he referred to the King's advisers and not His Majesty himself, was not accepted by either Conservatives or the Moderates among his own party. Sir Stafford, recognized for some time as the leader of the more extreme among the Labor Party, was rebuked by Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes, formerly Labor Home Secretary, who sharply declared the Labor Party must not be the first to bring Buckingham Palace within the range of party political conflict.

"The reference to Buckingham Palace," Mr. Clynes added, "will, of course, be taken as an allusion to the throne itself."
"Sir Stafford's explanation," dryly remarked Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, and National Laborite, "more or less adds insult to injury. I suppose his next explanation will be that it was the doorkeeper he meant."

The second resolution asks that application be made by the Union to the B.C. Legislature at its next sitting for an amendment to the Municipal Act requiring that all members of the municipal council of a city municipality shall be elected as aldermen and that the mayor of such a municipality shall be selected by majority vote of the aldermen elected.

Victorians voyaging to San Francisco at present see the beginnings of what will soon be one of the world's greatest bridges, spanning the Golden Gate. The bridge will have the longest suspended span in the world. It will tower 220 feet above the mouth of the bay. The structure is expected to cost $35,000,000 and completion is set for 1937.

The grain, now stored in a Moose Jaw elevator, will go for February delivery at New York. Some of it was grown in Alberta. It consists mostly of Garnet strain.

Big Dairies Agree to Striking Farmers' Price Demand as Dumping Spreads to City; Independents Not Yet in Line

Associated Press
Chicago, Jan. 8.—Milk deliveries were halted in Chicago to-day as violence flared over a 100-mile area in the big dairymen's strike against reduced prices.
Dumping of milk spread from highways surrounding Chicago and reached into the city itself. Independent retail dealers who attempted to deliver milk had their trucks tipped over or the contents spilled into sewers.
With both producers and distributors anxious to settle the strike, conferences were held to devise means of meeting the farmers' demand, a guaranteed basic price of $1.85 a hundred pounds.

Meanwhile it was learned Col. Batista had contracted with four foreign pilots to act as instructors for the government aviation force.

PREMIER HAS TO ALTER PLAN

Mr. Pattullo Will Be Unable to Make Eastern Calls Before Ottawa Conference

The delay in his departure for Ottawa resulting from the slow progress of recovery from his nasal infection, has caused Premier Pattullo to cancel all arrangements he had made in eastern Canada outside of the actual work on the conference of premiers. Mr. John Hart, acting premier, announced this morning after receiving a wire from the premier.

Mr. Pattullo was to have reached Ottawa several days in advance of the rest of the provincial delegation, but under the changed plans he will arrive there next Monday, the same day as the other members of the cabinet, but by a different train. The conference opens January 17.
Preparations were made at the Buildings to-day for the general session of the cabinet. All those who can will be in Vancouver to-morrow to attend the Board of Trade's meeting for Premier Bennett. Canadian Press and Associated Press
Tokyo, Jan. 8.—Deaths of seventy-one persons and injuries to fifty-six in a panic stricken crowd were reported to-day by the Rengo news agency correspondent at Kyoto.
The crowd was in the Kyoto station to bid farewell to a group of recruits for the Japanese army. The stampede occurred shortly after 2 p.m. to-day when about 10,000 relatives and friends jammed the station's platform to say goodbye to the recruits, already aboard the train, which was standing in the station.
One person fell and cried for help, starting the panic. Hundreds were crushed and trampled, including women and children.
Police and public organizations were mobilized to carry the wounded to hospitals and move bodies of the dead.

GIANT DEVIL FISH CAUGHT

Ten-foot Octopus With Parrot-beaked Mouth Caught off Pender Island on Exhibit Here; "Expect Caddy Next," Says Peter Jorgensen, Fisherman

"Expect to have Caddy next week" reads a sign tacked to a giant octopus which to-day is on exhibition outside Askey's Fish Market, 624 Yates Street.
The monster devil fish, which is over ten feet long from its knife-like beak to the tips of its eight vacuum-studded tentacles, was landed after a desperate fight on Saturday last by Peter Jorgensen, a fisherman, while he was dragging his nets for whiting in the gulf off Pender Island.
"There's a beauty for you. We hope to land 'Caddy' on the next trip out," said Jorgensen as he delivered his catch to Brown & son, wholesale fish distributors, 936 Green Street, who turned the big octopus over to Askey's for display purposes.

"Penda" Swallows Seagull When She Bobs Up Off Here

Report "Caddy" Under Log Boom

Five Children Scared Friday Afternoon on Fraser River

Vancouver, Jan. 8.—"Caddy," the famous sea serpent that reports itself around Victoria, is making a visit to the Fraser River—or else it is some other member of its family.
At least so declare Murray Jackson, seven years old, of 137 East 6th Avenue, Vancouver; Billy Alexander, ten, of 153 East 64th Avenue, and three other children who had an exciting experience with the creature Friday afternoon.
They were playing at the river's edge at the foot of Main Street when they saw it about 100 feet out in the stream. They had read about "Caddy," and ran out on a boom of logs to get a better view.
The creature, whose neck was three or four feet out of the water, suddenly dived and then the children felt the boom of logs heaving under them. They looked at the edge of the boom and there was the creature's long tail sticking out from under it. It had

Coronel Marsh, Earl Marsh and J. W. Chilton, Oak Bay Residents, Started Yesterday Afternoon Off Gonzales Point By Mrs. Cadborosaurus

Mate of "Caddy" Sticks Her Head in Among Twenty Seagulls and After Eating One Is Driven Beneath Water By Others Pecking at Her

Mrs. Cadborosaurus poked her nose out of the water yesterday afternoon in the tide rips between Trinit Island and the western end of Shoat Bay and swallowed a seagull.
The old girl started three Oak Bay residents who had taken blankets and picked a soft spot on the headlands to bask in the brilliant sunshine.
"Penda" as Mrs. Cadborosaurus will be known in future in honor of Pender Island, where she was discovered, has been crashing the spotlight more frequently of late than her illustrious husband who made the scientific world sit up last October when he bobbed up alongside the yacht carrying Mayor and Mrs. W. H. Langley.
Coronel Del Marsh, a student at the Spross Shaw School, who resides at 2045 Goldsmith Avenue, were the three Victorians honored by the public appearance of "Penda."
"Are you willing to take an affidavit that you saw Cadborosaurus?" Coronal Marsh was asked this morning.

Police Break Into Villa in Foothills of Alps, But Are Not Quick Enough to Prevent Serg Stavisky Firing Bullet Into His Own Head

Doctors Fight To Save His Life

Associated Press
Chamonix, France, Jan. 8.—Serge "Handsome Alex" Stavisky, alleged $40,000,000 swindler, shot himself in the head to-day when police surrounded him in a hidden villa. He was at first thought to have died instantly, but a hastily summoned physician found a sign of life.
A battle immediately was begun to save Stavisky from death in order to turn him over to trial.
Application of restoratives brought an apparent consciousness to the man who had been sought for two weeks following the collapse of the Bayonne pawnshop, which he founded.
Later, however, he lapsed into a coma and the doctor said he feared the wound was mortal.
Stavisky was living alone in one room of a villa at the foothills of the French Alps.
The secret service traced him there and its agents entered the unheated house. No signs of life had been seen about it.
One room, later found to be the only heated quarter in the villa, was found locked. The agents knocked at the door. There was no answer.
Convinced "Handsome Alex" must be inside, they smashed down the door.
SHOOTS HIMSELF
Stavisky was there. As police burst into his hiding place, he placed a gun to his head and fired.
A search conducted on a world-wide scale by the French Government directed by Premier Camille Champs himself.
The villa had been rented for Stavisky by a lieutenant.
Stavisky's friends had said he was prepared to kill himself if captured. They said he carried a dose of poison with him constantly as well as pearls valued at $1,000,000.

WIFE IN PARIS

Stavisky's wife, who vanished from the Claridge Hotel on the Champs Elysees with their two children on the day after her husband fled, has been quoted in a bond-selling circular issued by Stavisky as advising insurance companies they could legally invest in pawnshop securities.
The government was brought into the scandal when police said Albert Dalimier, Colonial Minister, had been quoted in a bond-selling circular issued by Stavisky as advising insurance companies they could legally invest in pawnshop securities.

DAUGHTER OF MINISTER WED

Miss Elsie D. Pearson Married in Nanaimo to Kenneth D. Alexander

Nanaimo, Jan. 6.—St. Andrew's First United Church was the setting this morning of an interesting mid-winter wedding when Elsie Delilah, eldest daughter of the Hon. George Pearson, Minister of Mines and Labor, and Mrs. Pearson, became the bride of Kenneth Dobson Alexander, eldest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Alexander. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. P. Bunt.

A floral pathway led from the church door to the altar, which was banked with palms and white chrysanthemums, while mauve and cream chrysanthemums were used in attractive combination with palms and ferns throughout the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in her beautiful gown of pearly velvet fashioned along princess lines, with a becoming collar of puffed sleeves and scalloped. Her hair was of orchid tulle with pearly velvet trimming. She carried a sheaf of Calla lilies.

Miss Dorothy Pearson was her sister's only bridesmaid. She wore a graceful frock of orchid tulle with short drop puffed sleeves. The long skirt had circular cording skipped with apple green. A sash tied in a large bow in the back was of orchid and apple green—and her turban was of orchid velvet. Her flowers were mauve chrysanthemums.

Little d'Auria Michelin, niece of the groom, made a delightful picture as flower girl in her Victorian frock of point d'esprit over mauve tulle. Her bonnet was of real lace with French flowers and tulle ribbons. She carried a basket of daisies. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Roy Elmer and George Bradshaw, cousins of the bride, and Mr. Sheldon Spurr.

Following the ceremony a luncheon for the immediate families of the bride and groom was held in the Malaspina Hotel. The beautifully appointed tables were artistically decorated with mauve chrysanthemums and tall wax tapers. For traveling the bride chose a tailored ensemble of old rose with small suede hat to match.

MEET TO VOTE ON WAGE PLAN

There will be two meetings of the men, one at 10 a.m. Tuesday for the night shift, and the other at 7 p.m. for the day shift.

The majority and minority of the conciliation board will be presented in full at each meeting and discussion will follow.

Apart from the call for the general meetings, the advisory board of the union had no announcement after its Sunday conference.

The question to be decided by the men is whether they will accept the five per cent wage reduction recommended by the conciliation board.

Two members of the conciliation board—Judge J. N. Ellis, the chairman, and A. G. McCandless—agreed the reduction was warranted. The third member, Dr. Lyle Telford, declared against any cut in a minority report.

Palace Statement

In British Speech Brings Wide Protests

"Sir Stafford," said The Manchester Guardian, "is rapidly becoming the Labor Party's most dangerous liability. He is a small political experience. Until he was brought out of the relative obscurity of a distinguished career in the law courts to fill the gap in the Labor Government's this legal line, his political activities and interests were unknown."

"It is not extravagant to say the kind of propaganda on which Sir Stafford embarked is the most handsome present that can be given political reaction in this country. It is a clear incitement to Toryism and Fascism."

The London Daily Express called Sir Stafford a "Middle Temple Trotsky," whom the trade unions should distrust.

The London Daily Telegraph said his whole scheme was based on violence, and appealed only to the violent, and was creating "day by day a spirit of a like violent type."

The London Times concluded its editorial rebuke of Sir Stafford with the French citation: "Il a manqué une belle occasion de se taire." "He missed a fine opportunity for keeping quiet."

Dispatches yesterday, reporting Sir Stafford's Saturday evening speech, delivered at Nottingham, Eng., also carried the explanation he had made in reply to the first newspaper criticisms. The former Solicitor-General said he had not meant to refer to the King at all, but only to those who advised His Majesty.

In his Nottingham speech Sir Stafford was quoted as saying:

"When the Labor Party comes into power, it must act rapidly and it will be necessary to deal with the House of Lords and the influences of the City of London. There is no doubt that we have to overcome opposition from Buckingham Palace and other places as well."

REFERRED TO OFFICIALS

Explaining away a "misconception of what I intended to convey," Sir Stafford said: "I most certainly was not referring to the Crown. The term 'Buckingham Palace' is a well-known expression used to describe court circles, officials and other people who surrounded the King at Buckingham Palace."

The London Sunday Times called Sir Stafford's reference "a blazing indictment," in which "the King's name was dragged into politics."

NO REVOLUTION

Regarding proposed changes in the constitution, Sir Stafford said in part: "We of the Labor Party have decided absolutely and definitely the only way to bring about a change from capitalism is a democratic way. I should be opposed to any violent revolution."

"We have to make it clear that when the Labor Party obtains power the House of Lords has got to be abolished, not because we dislike the old gentlemen, but because in experience of the last century we found they invariably reject progressive measures. It is ludicrous to speak of the House of Lords and democracy in the same breath. Let us cut down the reverend wood of the House of Lords before it falls on us."

"We want a House of Commons which will prevent ministers from doing what they want and make them do what the people want."

Sir Stafford was Solicitor-General in 1930 and 1931. He sits in the House for East Bristol.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Stepping across the White House threshold late to-day, Alexander A. Troyanovsky, first ambassador here from the Soviet Union, completed the recognition proceedings between two nations that had been diplomatically estranged for sixteen years.

M. Troyanovsky reached the capital Sunday and his arrival set up a buzz of Russo-American activities that continued to-day.

William C. Bullitt, United States ambassador to the S.S.S.R., made part of the trip from Moscow with the Russian envoy. He arranged to devote all of today to discussions on trade relations, credits and other matters between the two countries. He will complete his embassy staff before returning to-morrow.

With the furtherance of this policy in view, leading to the betterment of store operation and to insure closer cooperation among the department heads, annual conferences have been held annually for three years by members of the Canadian committee and store and merchandising managers.

OPTIMISM SEEN

Before going into conference at 9:30 o'clock this morning, Mr. Gourley granted a brief interview to a representative of The Victoria Daily Times, expressing his pleasure in meeting the company managers in Victoria at this time.

He said he noted increasing optimism in the west, and confidently anticipated a steady improvement in general business conditions throughout Canada. In the Hudson's Bay Company's store operations, he said business had shown a gratifying improvement over the year end.

Mr. Gourley expressed the regret of himself and his conferees over the death of Sir Evelyn Ashley-Wallers, who recently passed away at his home at Hemel Hempstead, London, Eng.

Mr. Gourley was a member of the London committee, having been made a director of the Hudson's Bay Company in March, 1932.

The company's retail store managers and other departmental heads, who are conferring with Messrs. Gourley, Lyall and Riley, are: P. A. Chester, general manager of the Hudson's Bay Company, Winnipeg; George F. Klein, manager at Winnipeg; W. P. Barrett, manager at Saskatoon; J. K. Hill, manager at Edmonton; R. E. Mr. Pearson made no comment on the subject other than that the appointment had not been made yet.

week, the appeal of the three leaders says:

"The aim of Canadian foreign policy is peace. That aim expresses the desire of every Canadian. But peace cannot be maintained without knowledge and conscious effort on the part of democratic peoples."

"For this reason we believe all Canadians should study the position of our country in the world and the contribution Canada may make toward strengthening the agencies designed to ensure world peace and economic stability."

INFORMATION AVAILABLE

"The League of Nations Society in Canada offers an outline of study in which all our citizens may participate. Without commenting on the details of this project, we commend it to the Canadian people and urge them to inform themselves of the issues which confront the world at the present time."

"Without doubt world peace is menaced today as at no time since the close of the Great War. Canadians did their part nobly in that war and know only too well its horror and its cost in blood and treasure. Another such conflict might imperil western civilization."

"The people of this country worked together in war. We ask them now to work together in the nobler task of helping to substitute for the use of violence and force in international relations, the principles of law and justice on which a world society as well as a national society must rest."

The details of the study project are to be announced later in the week.

ing Chancellor Adolf Hitler's rearmament proposals.

NOTES ON CONFERENCE

Sir John carried into the conference room to-day voluminous notes on his talks last week with Premier Mussolini at Rome, and later planned to confer with other government leaders.

His reports are to be placed before the disarmament committee of the Cabinet later this week, probably Wednesday or Thursday. The Foreign Secretary himself will go to Geneva next week-end for the opening of the League of Nations Council meeting, January 15.

Officials here, Downing Street, discounted rumors that a full cabinet session was being prepared to deal with Sir John's mission.

It was stated, however, that there were no full cabinet meetings on his report, but because it was considered the period of informal talks had not yet reached the point for formal decisions.

Mr. Arthur Henderson, as president of the Disarmament Conference, also was to see Sir John, conferring on the prospects of eventually leading arms discussions back to Geneva.

Through the conferences beginning to-day British statesmen started to work on the nation's first statement of policy on the League of Nations and the Disarmament Conference since Germany left both at Geneva in mid-October.

"Penda" Swallows Seagull When She Bobs Up Off Here

"You bet I will," he replied. "We were real scuffers about the sea serpent before yesterday but you can list use as converts now. We saw a sea serpent all right."

He proceeded to tell the story as follows:

"It was such a fine afternoon that we decided to go for a jaunt and between Trial Island and where we were sitting which was near Dr. C. J. Coultas's residence at 237 King George Terrace everything was serene and silent and we were taking in the beauty of nature. We got to joking about 'Caddy.' We thought it was a lot of hokey but we thought it would be a joke on us if we did suddenly see it. Well, you can imagine how surprised we were when we did see the sight of our lives. There were about twenty seagulls sitting on the water about 400 yards from the shore. A sudden there was a commotion among them and a large head came up about three feet out of the water. The seagulls started pecking at it and the serpent grabbed one of them and swallowed it. The seagulls persisted and 'Penda's' schoolgirl complexion was suffering so much that she had to dive. She came up again and the seagulls were still after her and she headed away in the direction of Race Rocks."

"I should say we watched 'Penda' for nearly four minutes. She had a head like a camel only the face was a little more sunken and there were three coils out of the water. The only way I can describe the coils is if you had three large inner tubes blown up and you see at the bottom in number half of each. The coils were smooth and glistened in the sun. No, there was no serrated back. I should say it was over thirty feet long from the head to the last bump but we did not see the tail. The color was almost a black brown."

The evidence given by the Marsh brothers and Mr. Chilton confirms the belief recently advanced that there are sea serpents in Victoria waters. "Caddy," who is the male, has been seen by a large number of people and his head is slightly different to that of "Penda" and he is decorated with a serrated back. His coloring is also slightly different.

"Penda" appears to be the most voracious of the two. In her two main public appearances she has been seen feeding. When Cyril B. Andrews and his friends at Pender Island first saw "Penda," she grabbed a wounded duck and swallowed it, bones, feathers and all and liked it. On that occasion the seagulls attacked "Penda" and drove her beneath the water.

"Penda" probably likes seagulls and their meat and has been feeding on them for years which has made her the arch-enemy of the gulls. The menu of "Caddy" has never been discovered.

Pender Island, like Cadboro Bay, is to be honored for its discovery of the female of the species. When Caddy was discovered it was decided to name him Cadborosaurus and while the two may be generally known as Mr. and Mrs. Cadborosaurus, the wife will be "Penda" and the husband "Caddy."

Considerable resentment is being aroused in Victoria over the "hoax" which is being carried on in certain circles over the sea serpents. It is pointed out that Caddy was discovered here before the Loch Ness sea serpent. Even The Times of London is spreading itself on the Loch Ness serpent and steps are being taken to preserve it by an act of parliament.

"This is the biggest thing we've ever had in Victoria," said one of the eyewitnesses of "Caddy." "We should make the most of it like they are doing over in Scotland. Advertisers in the papers and magazines are displaying the Loch Ness serpent and the papers are full of it."

Giant Devil Fish Caught

squeezes the life out of any living thing it contacts, is attracting crowds of Victorians, whose interest in marine life has been whetted by the frequent sightings in local waters of the notorious sea serpents "Caddy" and "Penda."

The interest is all the keener because it was off Pender Island that "Penda" was sighted by Cyril B. Andrews and others during the meanderings of the monster about the Victoria coastline.

The great devil fish now on display in the city is evidence of the type of terrible creatures which live beneath the surface of the sea hereabouts.

Clarence F. Brown, who, in partnership with his father, E. W. Brown, handles the bulk of Victoria's fish supply, stated this morning that he had seen many devil fish, but none as large as this one. The octopus which frequent these waters, he says, usually run from four to five feet in length.

CAUGHT IN NETS

Jorgehen had his nets out in town of forty-five-foot Diesel-powered launch on Saturday when he came to grips with the most devilish of all fishes. The octopus was swimming at the time of contact, because it was caught in the net. The ensuing commotion in the water gave those who witnessed it the impression of the battle that would undoubtedly follow the capture of "Caddy." Usually the devil fish clings with its suckers to the rocks, and draws its victim under.

The costly net was ripped badly before the monster was finally hauled in by the power-boat's winch. Hours elapsed before the powerful, writhing, slimy brute, died. It has a beak like a parrot's and a knife-cut takes the place of teeth.

In view of the great interest shown in the octopus by the public, Joe Askey said this morning that he would keep the fish on view until to-morrow.

Joe Denison, a fisherman who happened to be in Askey's store to-day, said he caught a somewhat smaller octopus off Clover Point last week while fishing for skate.

INDEPENDENTS OUT OF LINE

Twenty-five large Chicago dairies, supplying most of the city's milk, announced willingness to pay the price asked, but the problem of how to force smaller independents into line held up the settlement.

The most serious reports of violence came from Wisconsin, where interference with railroad trains hauling milk was reported.

Los Angeles, Jan. 6 (Associated Press).—Ray Webb Valley filed suit here to-day for divorce against Rudy Valley, the singer-orchestra leader.

TURKEY HAS NEW FIVE-YEAR PLAN

Associated Press

Istanbul, Turkey, Jan. 8.—The Turkish cabinet today had definitely approved the new five-year plan to industrialize formerly agricultural Turkey.

A total of $32,000,000 will be devoted to construction of fifteen state factories, including three textile mills ranging from 25,000 to 45,000 looms each. It was decided the state will establish the fifteen factories with government capital, leaving private capital at the small end of the horn with only the three textile mills.

U.S. CROP LOANS

Washington, Jan. 8 (Associated Press).—The United States Senate agriculture committee today had given its approval to the lending by the government of another $100,000,000, while officials estimated that cotton and corn producers already have borrowed $150,000,000 since the fall. The $100,000,000 would be for crop production loans, similar to those made during the last several years.

NEW TEST FOR IMPURE WATER

Harvard University Scientists Invent Mechanical Nose

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Staff Writer
Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 8.—A new mechanical nose, named the osmoscope, made to smell impurities in drinking water, is announced at Harvard University.

The osmoscope is a small meter, attaching to the nose. It promises to detect the one human sense most neglected by civilization. This is the olfactory ability which scientists have calculated can detect a smelly substance 100,000 times earlier than it can be found by spectrum or chemical analysis.

The meter saves the human nose from the fatigue of olfactory organs that ordinarily dulls the keenness of smell and limits practical use.

In mechanical principle the osmoscope is an air pump, operated by a mercury piston. It is first filled with air purified to all odors. Then the smell to be analyzed is sniffing is trapped and pumped into the meter.

The new sniffer was made to investigate more thoroughly a recent discovery by Hackensack chemists that drinking water turns pink, blue and green and gets bad smells and tastes from electrolysis of water pipes.

MINE ENGINEER HELD FOR TRIAL

Associated Press

Duchov, Czechoslovakia, Jan. 8.—The chief engineer of the Nelson mine had been arrested today in connection with the disaster in which 142 miners perished. It was alleged the engineer refused to approve installation of safety devices because of their cost.

Final official figures showed two men perishing above ground and 140 underground when an explosion rocked the mine last Wednesday.

SLAIN GUNMAN IS IDENTIFIED

"Handsome Jack" Klutas Shot in Suburb of Chicago

Associated Press

Chicago, Jan. 8.—"Handsome Jack" Klutas was at the last "show-up" today.

Heavily guarded, their identities kept secret, victims of a dozen kidnappings and extortion plots passed by the body of the slain gang leader in efforts to identify it at the county morgue.

Klutas, caught in a net of state attorney's police in suburban Bellwood, was dropped in his tracks by machine gun fire Saturday as he reached for a weapon.

The one-time University of Illinois student who left the campus to head a gang of extortionists who preyed on farmers and others more or less outside the law, had been the object of a search by the government for seven years.

Trapped with Klutas was Walter De- trick, escaped convict from Indiana and a member of the notorious John Dillinger gang. He was arrested at the suburban bungalow where Klutas had stayed.

Indiana police arrived today to return him to the cell from which he broke with nine others at Michigan City several months ago.

The export index of the principal farm products was 111 for November, compared with 129 for October and 120 for November, 1932.

BRITISH DEBATE STERILIZATION

Recommendations of Committee Soon to Come Before Parliament

Associated Press

London, Jan. 8.—A British Government project for sterilization of mental defectives is expected to be presented to Parliament within the next few days. A government committee has completed a report on the subject after long study, but its recommendations are being closely guarded.

Suggestions of the committee have aroused great interest in view of the current European furor over the subject, following adoption of compulsory sterilization by Germany and the Pope's sharp criticism of such measures, issued recently at Vatican City.

Religious, political and other interested quarters are preparing for a fight, particularly in the event drastic measures are proposed.

OTHER SYSTEMS STUDIED

The committee studied systems of sterilization in vogue in other countries.

L. G. Brook, chairman of the group, said reports the committee had decided to recommend only voluntary sterilization and other statements purporting to forecast the committee's recommendations were without foundation.

Nine prominent physicians and surgeons compose the committee.

Compulsory sterilization for the unfit went into effect in Germany January 1 under a Nazi law which created 1,700 "racial courts" to examine hereditary defectives. It is applicable, among other things to feeble-mindedness, insanity, blindness, deafness and serious physical deformities.

OUTLAW SHOT; DIES OF WOUNDS

Wilbur Underhill Succumbs in Oklahoma State Prison

Associated Press

Oklahoma City, Jan. 8.—Wilbur Underhill, outlaw, died from thirteen bullet wounds. Elusive Elmer Inman, a reputed confederate, is again behind the bars. And only four of the southwest's major criminals remain at large as the law continues its relentless round-up.

Underhill, co-leader of the escape of eleven prisoners from the Kansas state penitentiary on Memorial Day, 1933, and wanted for the slaying of four officers and their convict prisoner in Kansas City last June, died late Saturday evening in the Oklahoma state prison at McAlester.

After seven months at large following the prison break, the slayer and robber was captured at Shawnee, Okla., December 30. A few hours before his capture, he fled from a raided house under fire, receiving his fatal wounds.

Inman, who assumed the role of Oklahoma's No. 1 desperado when his gang chief, Matt Kines, was sentenced to life for murder, was wounded and captured at Bowlegs, Okla., Sunday. A busy burglar and slippery as an eel in the hands of the law, Inman has numerous sentences and escapes on his record.

Oil-fuel flames swiftly enveloped the wrecked stillhouse and scores of firemen struggled desperately for nearly two hours before the blaze was brought under control.

Seven men were slightly injured. The blast shattered hundreds of windows in south Philadelphia, where the plant is located.

Harvard Gets Pieces Of "Ivory House"

Associated Press

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 8.—Twenty carvings in ivory, fragments of the famous "Ivory House" of Ahab and Jeebel, idolatrous rulers of Israel 2,800 years ago, have been acquired by Harvard University, Professor Kirsopp Lake announced today.

Dr. Lake, professor of history at Harvard, was a member of a joint expedition of eminent scholars who excavated approximately half the ancient city of Samaria, the capital of northern Israel.

Old Biblical narratives contain several references to the "Ivory House" of King Ahab and Queen Jeebel, long a symbol of the splendor and luxury of those ancient and reputedly wicked rulers. But up to the recent excavations, no trace of the house ever had been found and its existence often had been questioned.

ROUMANIAN WAR MINISTER QUILTS

Bucharest, Rumania, Jan. 8.—With four close friends of King Carol eliminated from important Rumanian posts today, including the Minister of War, the government was counting its strength anew after another jarring shake-up. The following resignations were accepted.

Nicholas Uica, Minister of War; Julius Duprescu, private secretary to King Carol; General Duatrescu, commanding general of the gendarmerie, the father of Julius; General Strauciu, commander of the state police.

The shake-up took place after a conference between Nicholas Titulescu, Foreign Minister in the new cabinet of Premier-Designate George Tatarescu, with King Carol. The changes generally were regarded as having been demanded by Titulescu.

"BRING ON YOUR COLD WEATHER!"

Thermalized gasoline, Mr. La Chance now claims, makes present Vancouver weather "seem like Panama" to his Hudson 8.

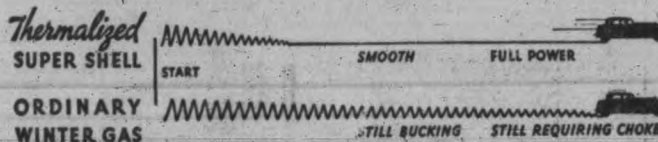

Why is it you hear on all sides such extravagant praise for Thermalized Super Shell? We believe it is because motorists try this gasoline often as frank unbelievers. It is usually such skeptical people who are most surprised and pleased. We daresay you will be quite as ardent a Super Shell supporter from the first day you drive with it. Try it today.

WHAT THERMALIZING DOES TO A WINTER GASOLINE

Makes it more concentrated, more powerful in a cold motor.
Reduces the tendency to sputter and backfire in chilly weather.
Cuts in half the usual choking period.
Prevents dangerous dilution of crankcase oil.
Increases winter mileage, saves you money.

*THERMALIZED is the same given Shell's combination of processes by which gasoline is made to deliver full power in a cold engine. Originally produced under terrific heat, Super Shell is redistilled, made even more concentrated. Every gallon for your community is Thermalized for local temperatures.

Try Thermalized Super Shell these January mornings

THAT RADIO TEST

What is wrong with radio? What shall be done about it? The Literary Digest asks these questions. It recently conducted a test to find out what programmes were popular and what were not. It says the mountain of data supplied by the 16,400 readers who took part in the test showed a tremendous vote against jazz, crooners, and advertising that "is excessive, cheap, superficial and a decided preference for symphony orchestras, bands, operas, talks on current events and educational features."

Was it a fair test? The Digest further asks, and then comments: "Most of the hundreds who wrote letters supplementing their ballots said that it was. They welcomed the opportunity to register their radio likes and dislikes. Others said it was not a fair test. However, it is plain that so far as the dissatisfied element is concerned, radio manufacturers and radio advertisers are missing a market, however extensive, because of the bitter opposition to much of what is offered on the air to-day."

"I will never buy a radio until the present arrangement of programmes is changed" and "I refuse to buy the products advertised by sponsors of programmes that I find intolerable." Such are the refrain of scores of letters received by The Digest.

Some correspondents, we are told, say that the radio test represents a cross-section of American opinion. Others disagree. It may be, as one writer remarks, that the American radio audience "is an agglomeration of many minority groups" and that this is the core of the problem. That statement is made by S. Howard Evans of Garden City, New York, who says:

I have been interested in broadcasting for a number of years. During that time I have seen the dissatisfaction with radio programmes grow to revolt proportions. It is highly significant that it has commanded the attention of your columns. I have also seen a growing recognition that the real trouble lies in the public policy which controls our broadcasting structure. This recognition has become so widespread that at the present time thousands of high school boys and girls in thirty-six states of the Union are debating the question: "Resolved: That the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of radio control and operation."

Some excellent programmes, of course, come over the radio, but they are easily outnumbered by the mediocre and utter piffle. One would imagine, moreover, that the manufacturers of some of the products whose supposed virtues are extolled in the most extravagant manner would see in this form of publicity a menace to sales. Much of the matter used is an insult to ordinary intelligence.

CANADIAN NICKEL

It was suggested some time ago that a large amount of the nickel produced in Canada was being exported to those nations that are spending large sums on the manufacture of arms. But the figures contained in the latest trade report do not bear out this suggestion by any means. Here are the details which show the importing countries and the value of their purchases for the twelve months ending October, 1933 and 1932, respectively:

Country	1933	1932
United States	$8,811,000	$3,998,000
United Kingdom	5,974,000	1,433,000
Netherlands	3,010,000	566,000
Norway	1,470,000	1,084,000
Germany	181,000	354,000
Japan	167,000	130,000
Belgium	93,000	8,000
Italy	75,000	141,000
France	18,000	23,000
Spain		11,000

There is no information how the amount of nickel Canada sells to the United Kingdom and the United States is used—how much goes into the manufacture of armaments and how much into other products, such, for example, automobiles. The increases in their purchases noted above, however, would seem to be directly traceable to the much-improved industrial situation in both countries. It will be noticed that the combined purchases of France, Belgium, Italy and Germany are comparatively trifling compared with the totals of the United Kingdom and the United States. There is no feverish preparation for war in these two countries.

JAPAN'S POPULATION

"The number of babies born in Japan last year, according to the Cabinet Bureau of Statistics, was 2,182,743. The number of deaths during the same period was 1,174,875. The natural increase of population was 1,007,868. The round million had never before been reached in Japan, and only in Russia has this figure been exceeded. It seems, though the statement cannot be statistically proved, that a natural increase of one million in one year is a record held by Japan and Russia over all other countries."—Mr. Hugh Byas, writing in The Asiatic Review.

The United States, with a population of nearly 130,000,000 as against Japan's sixty-six millions, had in 1931 a natural increase of only 800,163, adds Mr. Byas. The highest American year was 1927, when the excess of births over deaths was 961,031. Even India, with a population of 330 millions, increases only at an annual average rate of about 380,000. More babies are born in China than in Japan, but the positive checks of Malthus—famine, war, disease, and death—are formidably in operation there, and it is questionable whether China's population is increasing at all. At the other end of the scale the Japanese death rate was last year the lowest recorded—17.72.

"It is true that the birth rate is slowly decreasing and has fallen from 35.1 per 1,000 in 1921 to 32.16 in 1932," Mr. Byas continues, "but as the population as a whole is always growing larger, and as it is predominantly a young population with a large number of boys and girls reaching marriageable age every year, the actual number of babies increases. Owing to this factor—the large proportion of young people who in the next few years will marry—the increase must be expected to continue for some time."

Yet there is a social cause at work which, in the opinion of Japanese statistical authorities, will bring about equilibrium within, say, twenty years from now, the population becoming stationary at between eighty and ninety millions. The age of marriage is gradually growing later. Middle-class families no longer hasten to marry their sons at twenty-one and their daughters at eighteen or nineteen. The married student is a rarer bird than he was even ten years ago. In 1921, 519,193 marriages were registered; in 1931 the number had fallen to 496,754.

The Japanese student to-day, as he leaves the university with his hard-won degree and tightens his belt for the struggle to capture a "white collar" job, Mr. Byas concludes, may look forward to equilibrium about 1953. But even when equilibrium is reached it will be at a level ten or twenty millions above that of to-day. And the question is: If sixty-six millions are straining Japan's resources to the uttermost, how is she to cope with an additional ten millions?

HELPING THE FARMER

That something substantial actually has been done to better the condition of the farmer in the neighboring republic is shown by the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics crop report for 1933, recently issued in Washington.

This report shows that the value of our neighbor's farm products last year jumped fully $1,000,000,000 over the figures for 1932.

The total value of all farm crops grown in the United States in 1933 is set at slightly higher than $4,000,000,000—as compared with a 1932 valuation of approximately $2,879,000,000.

It is worth remembering, too, that this increase took place in spite of diminished production—or, perhaps, if the farm doctors at Washington are correct, because of it. Total volume of crops for the year was unusually low.

Farm prices generally in the United States have taken a healthy boost. Whether this happened because of or in spite of the government's farm programme, it is a good omen for the future. Our own Canadian farmers are anxiously waiting for better times.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF MAN

Publication by the British Royal Naval Benevolent Trust of details of the scheme of disbursement of the Submarine M2 Disaster Fund reveals a story of rare beauty, says The London Daily Mirror, which in itself is a "sermon on the brotherhood of man." Introducing the list of donations to the fund is a note which reads:

It may be of particular interest to record that the first donation was received by the trust on February 1, 1933 (the disaster occurred on January 26, 1933) from Herr H. Arnheim of Berlin, a gentleman whose name has appeared in the relief fund lists in connection with nearly every major disaster which has overtaken H.M. Navy in recent years.

To get to the beginning of the story behind that statement it is necessary to go back to a day in January, 1917—to an incident during the bitter fighting on the banks of the Ancre. Near Beaumont Hamel, behind the German lines, a German artillery officer came across a sergeant of the Royal Marines—a member of the British Naval Division—who was severely wounded. The officer helped to lift him on to a stretcher and as he did so a photograph fell from the sergeant's tunic pocket—the photograph of two little English girls, bonny and smiling.

The officer picked it up and asked the wounded man if the children were his, and he feebly nodded a "Yes"—he was too far gone to speak. The wounded marine was carried to a casualty clearing station and the officer went on his way—but the memory of two little faces remained with him. Later he tried to trace the sergeant through the dressing station, but casualties and dressing stations were seldom in one place long, and he failed.

Moreover, he did not know the man's name. The war over, the officer, now just plain Herr Arnheim, a Berlin citizen, again endeavored to locate the family of the Englishman whom he had helped and who, judging by his wounds, he presumed had died. One day he thought he had found the children. In a picture of a group of children at the Royal Naval Benevolent Trust's Home at Edinburgh he imagined he saw one of the faces which were on the photograph he had seen at Beaumont Hamel, but inquiries proved that he was mistaken.

Herr Arnheim has never been able to find the children whose chubby faces smiled up at him from the mud of Flanders, but he is hoping that he may yet do so. Meanwhile, whenever a fund is opened for the benefit of bereaved families of men of the Royal Marines and Royal Navy, Herr Arnheim's name is to be found at the top of the list.

One of these days perhaps the utter utility of war will be recognized by those who are largely responsible for causing it.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE COUNTRY'S BONDHOLDERS
The Regina Star

Figures from the Department of Finance show that with respect to the National Service Loan in 1931, out of 108,920 subscriptions, 55,761 were for less than $1,000, and 48,649 for sums between $1,000 and $5,000. With respect to the loan of $55,000,000 in the fall of 1932, out of 13,560 subscriptions, 12,567 were for sums of $5,000 or less, and 4,380 of these were for sums of $500 or less. In the last loan, with respect to $45,000,000, which was the cash allotment (the remainder being conversions) out of 22,668 subscriptions, 21,163 were for sums of $5,000 and less and actually 18,426 were for less than $1,000. These figures will give the lie to the statement of the demagogues that it is the rich men who benefit from Government loans.

A THOUGHT

The lofty looks of men shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down, and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day.—Isaiah lii.

Loose Ends

Yes, it's lifting now—the old barber is sceptical though—the insult is found to be in the Pickwickian sense—Russia is recognized by society—and the casualties are appalling next door.

By H.B.W.

LIFTING

AT LAST I'M convinced that the depression really is lifting, even though the politicians and the economists say it is. The infallible sign by which I judge that recovery has set in is the increasing snootiness of pedestrians in these parts. A few months ago they eyed you with a hollow and a jaundiced eye as you drove by and eagerly accepted a lift to town. Now they have an independent look and even ladies refused to accept my assistance from me during the last couple of weeks, which must mean that times are improving or I am getting worse. Just one more refusal of this kind—and I make it as a public warning—and I shall feel that prosperity has returned and shall never give anyone a lift again.

Still, I picked up an old codger to-day who had a face like a flat tire and was very dependent about things in general. "Of course," he said, "I never believe nothing I read in the newspapers, not me. They never tell you the truth about nothing. I don't think things is going to get any better for years and years. They talk about this here Roosevelt business in the States, but it won't get nowhere. It's only the government forcing business to men to work, that's all. Tien's nacheral."

"Believe me, I know when business is sound. I'm in the barbering business and when fellas want a shave as well as a hair-cut, then I know business is sound. When they all shaves at home, then you can tell business is bad. Well, they're still shaving at home. When they start asking for shaves at the shop then you'll know that the depression is over, not before."

The newspapers can't fool me. Why, there's one fella writes in the paper called Loose Ends, and I'd like to meet up with him some time. He's so crazy they hadn't ought to let him around the streets loose, but I suppose a man's got to do anything to make a living these days. With that he went off mumbling to himself savagely.

PICKWICKIAN

ONE IS PLEASED to see that the Boys' Parliament and the Boy Scouts have settled a little disagreement which, among older and abler men probably would have become a regrettable quarrel. Mr. Ted Chapman of Victoria attacked the Scouts and other organizations for their militaristic tendencies. Scout officials wrote to the newspapers a sharp denial and a hard rebuke to the Parliament. Now Mr. Chapman appears in print with an explanation which would have graced the Pickwick Club where, as you remember, Mr. Pickwick forgave the strong epithet, "humbler," because it was uttered purely in the Pickwickian sense.

Mr. Chapman says he only attacked the Scouts because he was requested to do so by Mr. Granham of Vancouver, in order that that gentleman might have a reasonable excuse to make a speech on the subject. This was the neighborly thing to do and entirely in accord with the manoeuvres of practical politics and the best British parliamentary traditions. It recalls the occasion in the Canadian House of Commons when an eminent British Columbia statesman based a whole passionate defence of Liberal policy on an interruption in which he had drilled one of his fellow members, but that wretched man forgot to make the defence. Anyway, you can see how the boys are mastering the inner working of statecraft. I feel that they are qualified, after the Scout incident, to sit in the Legislature.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"Don't let them know I'm here. I have work to do."

BOOT LICKERS

NEW YORK SOCIETY, newly-exhilarated and resplendent with legal champagne and that spirit of carnival in which champagne is so helpful, has recognized Russia. But, unlike President Roosevelt, it hasn't recognized Soviet Russia. It has recognized Czarist Russia and is honoring former Russian nobles with a syncope of nauseating to behold.

To see these exiles of the Russian court at the opera, says a dispatch to this newspaper, sends thrills of delight down the democratic back of the New York millionaire. To drink champagne with them is a rare ecstasy. To marry one of them is a noble career for a rich American girl.

Thus you see that in the United States some people are crazy about titles just as some people are here. You can't stop that. You can't stop people being syncopeants and boot-lickers of foreign aristocracies. You can't stop them from being vulgar and such things at the opera and champagne parties it doesn't matter much and doesn't affect our bread and butter. But when they start to create an official caste for themselves with titles and butters it with the power of wealth and economics, then it does matter. Then it ultimately does affect our bread and butter.

CASUALTIES
THEY HAVE JUST issued the January casualty list next door and it's pretty shocking. I doubt that the destructive powers of modern warfare are fully realized except where it is waged as it has been waged next door, ever since Christmas. The toll of these two weeks is appalling indeed: Elizabeth, the handsome doll: One arm cut off at the elbow under the wheels of the new scooter; voice gone; one shoe lost.

Mickey Mouse: All internal organs extracted, completely paralyzed, unable to turn a single somersault, though he couldn't sit still on Christmas; both ears missing.

Johnny, the celluloid baby doll: Abdominal operation a failure; both arms gone; no longer able to float in the bath; found drowned.

Red express wagon: Broken at Marlborough boys' place for repairs, following unsuccessful attempt to tow it behind triplex across ploughed field.

Red rubber ball: Lost in rubbish by mistake and burned in furnace with revolting odor.

Locomotive engine: Taken apart for purposes of scientific research but researchers unable to put it together again; hollow wheels, with convenient holes in them, now used as excellent whistles.

Big yellow truck: Real electric lights burned out on first day; light globes all broken on second day; wheels removed on third day; big yellow truck not much use on fourth day.

Crayons: All used up writing on fences, rocks and walls next door, and remains of them carefully burned by people next door to prevent further damage.

Building blocks: Found scattered through the neighborhood, some in Pudding's sile, some under hood of my car, some in plumbing next door. Has dog, found decapitated on her own doorstep; murderer still at large.

This is the known casualty list. But new victims of war are being discovered every day and the fate of many will never be known.

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THE CYCLE
The dead leaves, falling
To dust to ground
While under the hedges
Pile many a mound
Through them wind rustles,
On them snow drifts
Pale winter sunshine
Into their drifts.
So, slowly crumbling
Into decay
The winter weather
Takes them away
In spring how easily
They danced in mild
That now are dusty
And dry as earth.
Yet these poor leaves which
To dust return
In some springtime
Will glow with burn
In rose or lilac
Or waxing grass
They will come back when
The long years pass!

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
JANUARY 8, 1909

(From The Times Files)

The Queen Charlotte Islands seem to be the attractive cold fields at present. A local syndicate, recently acquired a big area there which is to be worked on a large scale. Now comes the announcement that another deal has been effected in which local men are interested.

J. A. Macdonald, K.C., leader of the Liberal opposition in the Legislature, arrived in the city last evening in order to take part in the session of the full court. He will remain here until the close of the session of the Legislature.

The ball given at the Empress Hotel last evening in aid of the working fund of the Women's Auxiliary of the Royal Jubilee Hospital was a most brilliant and delightful social event. The gay uniforms of the ladies and the beautiful dresses of the officers of the Fifth Regiment all combined to make the scene one long to be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Burns are spending a day or two in the city.

Arthur McLaughlin, the heavyweight boxer who won a foul from Paris in May last at the Victoria Theatre, called at The Times office yesterday with a view to getting a match arranged in the city. A match is talked of between McLaughlin and Nick Bunnie, or McNamee. The latter, however, weighs 175 and will have to give away twenty pounds to the big man if they ever get together.

That Sir Thomas Lipton is through with American cup racing and will never send another challenging yacht to this country, says a New York, is now the firm belief of yachtsmen.

The C.P.R. Belleville street wharf was severely taxed yesterday afternoon. In the middle of the afternoon the Princess May came in from Skegway and northern ports, the Princess Charlotte was at the inner dock and the lotte was at the outer dock and the May tied up opposite her. Then along came the steamer Queen City, also from the north, and she had to run in between the other two and land her passengers. The Ties and the Princess Royal were outside, and room had to be made for the Princess Victoria. The May was due to arrive an hour or two later, before the time of sailing of either of the others.

CHRIST AND PEACE

To the Editor:—The controversy which you reported in your paper a few days ago as going on at present in the Old Country between the Bishop of Liverpool and the Dean of Liverpool Cathedral on the one side, and Hugh Cecil on the other side, may appear to some as one of those many disgraceful church squabbles.

The fact is that it is centred on that

MARION COMES BACK TO OPERA

Lure of grand opera was too strong for Marion Talley to resist, and she is shown here in Chicago practising for her "second debut," with the Chicago Grand Opera Company. She started the world in 1929 by retiring to become a Kansas wheat farmer, after making a sensational debut with the Metropolitan company in 1926, when she was only nineteen, and becoming the nation's youngest prima donna.

LT. T. MASSIE IS SEEKING DIVORCE

Associated Press
Washington, Jan. 4.—The marital affairs of Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas Massie, which figured prominently in the sensational murder trial of the naval officer and others in Honolulu last year, headed to-day for the Reno divorce court.

Mrs. Massie, alleged victim of an assault that preceded the murder of a Hawaiian in 1932, announced she was leaving for Reno to institute divorce proceedings against her husband, at present stationed aboard the U.S.S. Oklahoma at San Pedro, Calif.

"The divorce proceedings are in no way connected with the Honolulu trial of April, 1932," she said. The divorce was being obtained at the insistence of Lieut. Massie, she said.

COUNT WED TO NANAIMO GIRL

Miss Jean Carson Becomes Bride of Count Bjarne Kirkhoff of Nanosoe

Nanaimo, Jan. 8.—A quiet wedding was solemnized Saturday evening when the Rev. W. T. Beattie united in marriage at the home of the bride, Miss Jean Carson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Carson, of this city, and Count Bjarne Kirkhoff, of Nanosoe Bay. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by Miss Peggy Ross as bridesmaid. The groom was supported by Ronald Cross.

The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Main being the soloist. The bride was attired in a soft clinging gown of pink satin covered with shell pink mesh trimmed with blue satin ribbon. She wore elbow-length white lace gloves and silver slippers with a coronet of orange blossom, and carried a bouquet of carnations, chrysanthemums and maiden-hair fern. The bridesmaid was attired in brown French crepe and capeline chapeau of matching tone lace.

Following the ceremony dainty refreshments were served, after which Count and Countess Kirkhoff left for Vancouver, where the honeymoon will be spent. They will reside at Nanosoe Bay.

T. HUMPHRIES DIED SUNDAY

remained there till after the formation of the western provinces, when he was transferred to the new Inspector's division with headquarters in Calgary. As a post office inspector he was recognized as a very capable official. He organized the first letter carrier service in Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat. He also had much to do in reorganizing the postal service in Calgary in 1919, when every employee of that office went out on strike. On being advised to seek a lower salary, in the interests of his health, Mr. Humphries resigned from the postal service in 1922 and came to Victoria to reside. He became manager of the Dominion Life Assurance Company here and remained in that position till the beginning of 1932.

ARDENT CHURCHMAN
He was an ardent churchman, and took an active part in the various activities of the church, especially amongst the young people. He was a Sunday school superintendent almost continuously for forty years, having served in this capacity in Cooke's Church, Toronto, for a number of years, and later in Grace Church of Calgary, and since coming to Victoria in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. He was also an elder for nearly the same period.

Mr. Humphries served on many committees of the General Assembly, and was a member of the Board of Administration. Prior to union, he was secretary of the Presbyterian Church Association, and became clerk of the reorganized Presbytery of Victoria in 1925, and had, with the exception of a brief period, continued as such until his death.

Although a staunch Presbyterian, his work and influence extended far and beyond the bounds of that denomination. He was local treasurer for the British and Foreign Bible Society, president of the Mission to Lepers, and a member of the board of management of the Protestant Orphan's Home.

OPPOSED BEER PARLORS
He not only gave of his time, but also generously of his means to all worthy objects, never pardoning what he did. DODGE HEIRESS MAKES DEBUT

Miss Frances Dodge, daughter of the late John F. Dodge, automobile pioneer, wealthiest girl in Detroit and one of the richest in the United States, is shown here as she made her debut in Detroit society. Her "coming out" party was one of the most lavish ever held in the Michigan metropolis.

HOW THE OUTDOOR GIRL GOT THE GOOD NEWS

A sign painted in large white letters on a side of Pilot Jack Stevenson's plane (at top) flashed the glad news to Helen Hickey and Frances Harrell Marshall, in their Outdoor Girl plane (below), that they had broken the refueling endurance record for women. The two aviators did not descend until they had circled for 237 hours and forty-two minutes above Miami, Fla.

The Modern Shopper Says "Charge It!"

Realizing the value of credit, she uses current income to meet current expenditures

CREDIT is extended by merchants as a shopping accommodation. They realize it isn't always convenient or safe to carry cash to pay for each purchase. It's a nuisance, too, to have to wait around the house for a C.O.D. delivery of a telephone order.

But credit is more than just a convenience. It has a definite value to the user. For most people depend on a monthly salary or income paid at some regular interval. By using their credit, they are able to meet current ex-pensures out of current income, which is just good business.

And credit, properly used, increases in value just as a friendship becomes stronger through close association! Using your credit regularly and paying bills promptly according to agreement puts you on the records of the stores and the credit bureau as a person of known worth.

That's why the modern shopper says "Charge It" and religiously pays all bills promptly!

DOWN AFTER SETTING ENDURANCE MARK

Wearily, but elated over their achievement, Helen Richey (left), and Frances Marshall are here pictured as they landed their record breaking plane Outdoor Girl at Miami, Fla., after setting a new women's refueling endurance flight record of nine days, twenty-one hours and forty-two minutes. Their sustained flight was forty-one hours and thirty-nine minutes longer than the record set last year over New York by Mrs. Marshall and Louise Thaden.

FEUD OF THE TWO HELENS STILL TENNIS TOPIC; WHY DID POKER-FACE QUIT?

Special Correspondence of The Victoria Daily Times

LONDON.

A great controversy has been raging in tennis circles here over the retirement of "Poker-face" Helen Wills-Moody, the "invincible" queen of lawn tennis, in the final of the American women's singles championship at the end of the season, when the score stood at three-love in the third and deciding set in favor of the "other Helen," Helen Jacobs.

Was she afraid of being beaten, or was she too ill to go on?

Here is her own explanation (in a signed statement):

"In the third set I felt as if I was going to faint, because of the pain in my back and hip, and complete numbness in my right leg.

"The match was long and by defaulting I do not wish to detract from the excellence of Miss Jacobs' play. I feel I have spoiled the finish of the national championship. I wish I had followed the advice of my doctor and gone to California. I still feel that I was right in withdrawing, because I felt on the verge of a collapse on the court."

Helen Jacobs said:

"There is no doubt that Helen Wills-Moody retired because she was afraid of a permanent disability resulting from her exertions."

Then two other famous ladies of the tennis court entered the fray.

Mrs. Mallory, eight times champion of America, said:

"Helen Wills-Moody walked off the court because she did not want to be beaten."

Whereupon Suzanne Lenglen, perhaps most famous and glamorous of all women tennis stars, took up the cudgels on behalf of Mrs. Moody:

"I refuse to believe that Helen Wills-Moody defaulted for any other reason than that she had reached the limit of her strength through some physical disability. She is a gritty, determined player who would play until she dropped."

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

This incident at Forest Hills was a repetition of history which these very two players, Mrs. Mallory and Miss Lenglen, themselves had made.

In 1921 the unbeaten Suzanne Lenglen retired when the score was against her in a game with Mrs. Molla Mallory on the grounds of illness.

Then, too, the crowd accused the champion of "quitting."

But at their next meeting, Suzanne beat the American into the proverbial cocked hat.

The score was 6-2, 6-0, and it must have been with a tremendous feeling of triumph that Suzanne turned to her crushed opponent and said:

"Now you know that I was ill when I played you in America."

Mrs. Mallory, when she lost her American crown in 1923 did so to Helen Wills-Moody and the only other time she won it again was in 1926 when Helen did not compete.

The criticism did not come well from her.

DRAMATIC END

When Mrs. Moody did throw in the sponge it was a dramatic climax to a match that had been played in an electric atmosphere.

There had been an incident in the second set when in the seventh game a partisan of Mrs. Moody yelled "Out!" to one of Miss Jacobs' shots. The crowd took up the cry in an angry roar, and Miss Jacobs turned white. Then she double-faulted, and the crowd set up another roar of cruel, ironical applause. At the end of the set, Miss Jacobs, on the verge of tearing her racket on the court and hurrying off.

Shortly afterwards she returned—composed now, and with set face.

She played smashing tennis and took the first three games running. It was then that Mrs. Moody gave in. As she walked off some of the crowd cried: "Don't quit, Helen!"

Miss Jacobs rushed across the court and pleaded with Mrs. Moody to continue. But the defeated champion picked up her sweater and left the court.

The consensus of opinion among the sporting writers is said to have been the "quill" and there were shouts from a section of the crowd for "money back," but a more generous view, and that one that is justified by knowledge of Mrs. Moody's indifferent health at Wimbledon and previous instances of her true sportsmanship is that taken up by "Suzanne."

RUMOR AND REPLY

The incident has produced a crop of rumors as well.

One was that there was personal feud between the two players. Helen Jacobs has retorted to this that she likes Mrs. Moody and that because they are not great friends there is no reason to assume that there is any unfriendliness.

Mrs. Moody's defeat broke a sequence of victories in women's National singles championships which has existed for nine years. Her last defeat was at Wimbledon in 1924 when she was beaten by Miss Kitty McKane (now Mrs. Godfree) in the final of the women's singles.

She did not compete in England again until 1927 when she regained the singles title at Wimbledon and she retained the championship up to and including 1930, competing in that year under her married name.

She did not enter in 1931 but retained the title last year and retained it this year.

Mrs. Moody has also a brilliant record in the women's finals of the American championships, winning the title every year from 1925 to 1932 with the exception of 1928, 1930 and 1932 when she did not compete. By her defeat this year she lost an opportunity to win the title for the eighth time and equal Mrs. Mallory's record.

WILL SHE COME BACK?

Will Mrs. Moody play again? If so, will she come back?

She is to rest for six months but she has announced that she has no intention of giving up the game and she hopes to compete in the American singles championships next year.

But there is an old saying of champions that "they never come back," and her loss of sets in recent games to Betty Nuthall and Dorothy Round has been described as the "writing on the wall."

Helen's defeat is only a temporary setback," she says. "She is still a champion and I am sure that as soon as she is returned to health she will star again on the courts."

"...things humming all around!"

BUSINESS has many barometers and some speedometers.

The volume of newspaper advertising, for instance, is one of these speedometers; it shows how fast trade is moving.

Watch the newspaper advertisements. Gradually they are increasing in number as business steps into second speed. Merchants and manufacturers feel a quickening public interest in buying; they are reaching out to catch that interest.

Their advertisements are worth following closely these days because they contain news of unusual importance to every shopper.

Following the news has become a habit in our lives; almost like breathing or eating. Our conversation, our opinions, our actions are based on what we read in newspapers.

Advertising in the newspapers is, for this reason, more than advertising. It is part of the force that is generated by the great dynamo of news—the force by which people act and think.

Newspaper advertising, like the news, is born fresh daily—timed to the minute—sparkling with the energy and action of each day's events.

It reaches virtually everyone who can be reached at all by any advertising, because whatever else people do, they read the newspapers today and will read them again tomorrow.

Newspaper advertising gets to everybody every day—and gets there FIRST.

EGAN GIVEN TEAT PLACE

California Golfer Picked on U.S. Walker Cup Squad; Ouimet Again Captain

New York, Jan. 8.—Golf launched a reconstruction programme all its own Saturday, with a thorough overhauling of the manner of playing the annual amateur championship, and the announcement of a thoroughly democratic 1934 Walker Cup team, with four of the nine players new to the classic international competition.

Patterning the amateur championship after the British system, the United States Golf Association Saturday announced the elimination of qualifying play in the tournament proper and the substitution of a full week of match play among a maximum of 180 entries, the most drastic change in the history of the competition.

OUIMET AGAIN CAPTAIN

At the same time, Francis Ouimet, Boston veteran, who led the Walker Cup forces in 1932, was again named captain of the team that will meet the British team at St. Andrews on May 11 and 12.

His teammates are: Johnny Goodman, Omaha, present open champion; Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati, and W. Lawson Little, San Francisco, all youngsters new to international play; H. Chandler Egan, Del Monte, Cal., veteran who won the amateur in 1904-05 and eliminated Goodman in the first round of the 1933 amateur, but never before played in Walker Cup matches; Max R. Marston, another former champion who returned to top-flight form last season; and the veterans of the 1932 team, George T. Dunlap, New York, United States amateur champion; Gus Moreland, Dallas, and Jack Westland, Chicago.

Under the new amateur plan, twenty-two sectional qualifying tournaments throughout the country, August 21, will produce the field that will start eighteen-hole match play with the opening of the 1934 championship at Brookline, Mass., Sept. 10. All former champions "in good standing" automatically are included among the 180 certified for match play.

Two Unknowns Tie for Lead

Ralph Stonehouse and Willie Dow Play-off To-day For Honors in Miami Golf

Miami, Fla., Jan. 8.—In a thrilling battle, twenty-nine-year-old Ralph Stonehouse of Indianapolis and forty-eight-year-old Willie Dow, Miami, yesterday tied at 279 to share top honors in the seventy-two-hole $2,000 Miami open golf tournament.

Little Jules Huot, Quebec, Canada's lone entrant, shot 291 to win $10.

Dow, who originally hailed from Monteth, a hamlet near Carmouset, Scotland, toured the first half of yesterday's final thirty-six-hole round in 68, two under par, but slipped back to 71 in the second half, finishing at 141 to go with a 138 carded at the midway mark of the tournament Saturday.

Stonehouse, a diminutive pro who, like Dow, never has made much of a showing in major tournament competition, picked up a 71 and a 69 yesterday for a par 140 to pair with 139 posted at the end of the first thirty-six holes.

A stroke behind came Gene Sarazen with 283, which won for him $150.

PLAY-OFF TO-DAY

Dow and Stonehouse were playing off the tie over an eight-hole route to-day for first prize of $500 and second place money of $350.

Tommy Armour, who led the field with a 136 at the half way mark Saturday, had two mediocre rounds of 72 each yesterday to finish in next place behind the leaders with 280. His score won him $250.

SYMPHONY TO APPEAR AGAIN

Vancouver Orchestra to Play in Victoria For Second Time February 5

The Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, under the conductorship of Allard de Ridder, will play in Victoria, Monday, February 5. Allard de Ridder has already won the admiration of the Victoria public. His quiet power, and yet gentle persuasiveness has brought out the best in his ensemble. A programme of Wagner and Tchaikowski will be given at this concert. This programme is the same as was played to a crowded house in Vancouver, the Sunday before the last concert in Victoria. The Andante Constaible of Tchaikowski will be played here, augmented by a number of Victoria strings, which will be prepared under the guidance of Christopher Wade. All Victoria musicians are looking forward to this chance to play with a real symphony organization, and Mr. de Ridder will make several trips to Victoria to rehearse these strings in preparation for the concert.

Dressler, Moran At Playhouse

Marie Dressler and Polly Moran as mothers-in-law battling over the lives of their married children, are in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Prosperity," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre.

The heroines of "Caught Short" and "Politics" have as many battles as of yore, but the battles are louder and funnier. Then, too, there is a dramatic figure out a way to put it on a paying basis by "trading" and "swapping." Their battles cause the youngsters to get a divorce—and then everything crashes.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Joe E. Brown is not superstitious, in spite of the fact that he has been in the show business since he was nine years old. He doesn't believe breaking a mirror means seven years of bad luck—spilling salt doesn't make him nervous—he isn't afraid to walk under a ladder—and he has no aversion to meeting black cats.

But there is one point on which Joe is, well, maybe, not exactly superstitious, but he has his own ideas about it. And that is concerning redheads. Joe says they're lucky to have around. That's why Joe is especially happy about "Son of a Sailor," his latest First National comedy, now showing at the Capitol Theatre. "Red," the property man with the company, is a red head.

RAILROAD STEEL BUYING IS SLOW

New York, Jan. 8.—A drop in steel output to 31 per cent of capacity from 37 per cent a week ago is the aftermath of the heavy anticipatory specifications during December, Iron Age said yesterday. As estimated by the American Iron and Steel Institute Tuesday this week's production was placed at 193 per cent.

The recession in specifications has been especially marked in tin plate, said the review. "Some tin mills are idle, and the operations of others range from 10 per cent to a maximum of 60 per cent."

"Railroad buying is still slow in many places," however, have noted. "The mills are waiting for orders and fastenings at present prices, and will wait to accept deliveries."

The iron production in 1933, according to final figures compiled by Iron Age, showed a gain of 12 per cent over 1932, as compared with an estimated increase of 71 per cent in steel ingot output. The total for the year was 13,208,190 tons, compared with 8,886,443 tons for 1932.

RICHARD DIX AT DOMINION

Star Has Leading Role in "Ace of Aces" Story By John M. Saunders

Richard Dix achieves one of the finest characterizations of his career as the redoubtable war ace in "Ace of Aces," RKO-Radio Picture which is now at the Dominion Theatre.

McLaglen Stars At The Empire

"Laughing at Life," the new Mascot picture at the Empire Theatre, is a veritable round-the-world cruise with Victor McLaglen, star of the production, piloting the ship. Opening in the Panama Canal Zone, when the canal was being built, the picture moves rapidly to the South Sea Islands, to Singapore, Shanghai, France during the World War, and to northern South America.

Although "Laughing at Life" is entirely unlike any other picture Victor McLaglen ever made, there is one similarity that should appeal to this star's fans, Edmund Lowe is missing this time, but William Boyd, the original Sergeant Quirt in the stage version of "What Price Glory," is McLaglen's nemesis in this story; and, inevitably, they meet no matter what part of the world McLaglen's quest for adventure happens to take him.

Also being shown is Ralph Lynn in "Just My Luck."

Frank Foyston Reviews Meteoric Career of Great Mickey Mackay

Vancouver Star Was Storm Centre During His Entire Career

After Failing To Succeed as Manager Mackay Becomes Butcher

FRANK FOYSTON, manager of the Seattle Sea Hawks in the North-western Hockey League, and one of the greatest players to ever lace on a pair of skates, went back a few years the other day in Seattle to review the career of one of the best-loved players in the history of hockey in the Northwest, Mickey Mackay. Mickey was a colorful lad when Frank Patrick discovered him on the prairies and imported him to Vancouver to turn up the old Pacific Coast Hockey Association. Now Mickey, after being a failure as a hockey manager, has retired to a butcher shop at Grand Forks.

Foyston, writing in The Seattle Times, has the following to say about the great Mackay:

"Mickey was a storm centre from the time he professionalized on the 'Big Four' League on the Canadian prairies, where he was playing ostensibly as an amateur until the night at the old fifth Avenue arena when Cully Wilson cracked him across the jaw with his stick, scattering teeth over the ice."

"Mackay was an odd chap when Patrick made him rover for his Maroons. He was wrapped in a telephone, turned loose at critical moments and when he turned loose he was dynamite on skates."

"For sheer speed there was nothing to match him. He could tear down the ice through a defence and fire his shot almost without a semblance of sickening. He simply turned on the speed."

"But he was a mean cuss on the ice. He'd skate past you and jab you with the butt end of his stick and be away before you knew who hit you. He and Cully Wilson, the little hustler who played right wing for us, had quite a feud one season. It ended when Cully skated up to Mickey and ripped him across the jaw."

"For several games, here and at Vancouver, Mackay and Wilson had been 'after each other' for some time. Mackay was small, but while Mackay was slender, Wilson was short and rugged. Cully was known as the 'bad man' of the league. He was carrying a knife over the shins every time. Referee Mickey Ion, who worked all of the games in those days, would turn his back."

"This particular night Mackay had given Wilson the ash several times in misrule on the ice. Towards the end of the game they were skating past each other right in front of the press box on the east side of the old fifth Avenue arena. Mackay was carrying his stick low, the puck being on the other side of the ice. Suddenly Wilson hoisted his stick high and hooked it right smack across Mackay's jaw. Mackay crumpled on the ice and we had to carry him off. It was a regrettable incident in hockey, but Wilson paid the penalty for it."

"Pretty Patrick fired Wilson out of the league for that blow-up, but Mickey came back, his jaw was set in a dozen places and his mouth filled with gold. He later even played a couple of seasons of great hockey for the Chicago Black Hawks."

"Wilson played several years of 'hockey down east' after being banished from the Northwest circuit by Patrick."

"He retired several years ago and now lives in Seattle, being employed by an oil company."

"Mickey was a cocky lad. He knew he was good and he boasted about it on occasions."

"Once when we played in Vancouver the two teams trooped out of the dressing rooms together and 'Hap' Holmes, our goalie, took his place in the net next to the dressing room."

"Mackay skated in to Happy, pointed his stick at a spot in the net, and remarked:

"In about four minutes, Happy, I'm coming down and score. And I'll shoot the puck right there!"

"Play started and it was about two minutes before Mickey made a rush."

"Then he came tearing through the defence, made a feint and pulled Holmes aside and fired the puck into the net, exactly where he said."

"It was many days before we quit kidding Holmes."

"Why, that's just where he said he'd score," we told Happy. "Why didn't you stay there?"

"There always was a howl when Mackay got into games at the old arena. Many a game Vancouver would get a goal or two out in front, or a couple of goals behind, and Mickey never would come out from under his blanket on the Vancouver bench."

"A rather frail chap, Patrick used him like a stake race horse. He always played 'Vancouver's' home game, for he pulled thousands of fans into the arena there."

"When he played he seemed to be alive. He was so red-hot on the ice he almost smoked smoke and flame."

"And how he'd ramble!"

Registers Three Goals in 4 to 0 Victory; Detroit Whips Ottawa 2 to 0

N.Y. RANGERS AND CHICAGO IN DRAW

Charles Conacher and Wilfrid Cude are down today on Ottawa Senators' list of young gentlemen to be avoided. Trudging home after an unfortunate weekend, the players from the Capital could lay most of their ill-luck at the doors of the Toronto right winger with the blistering shot and the young Detroit goalie.

Buck Boucher's young band dropped Saturday night's National Hockey League contest with the Leafs, 7 to 3, after they had held a two-goal lead. Conacher's four goals had a lot to do with their downfall. Yesterday evening they lost, 2 to 0, to Red Wings when they failed to beat Cude, subbing in the Detroit nets for John Ross Roach.

Senators' loss, combined with the 4 to 2 losing Montreal Maroons gave Ottawa Saturday night, dropped the Ottawa Senators to fourth place in the Canadian section standing back of the Montrealers. Black Hawks played New York Rangers a 1 to 1 tie in Chicago, and the ever-annoying Americans whipped Canadiens 4 to 0 in New York yesterday evening in the other weekend contests.

Leafs looked far from almost unbeatable section leaders in the first period of the Toronto game when Desha Roche and Jerry Shannon put the Ottawa team in the lead. What happened in the dressing-room between periods was not revealed, but when the Toronto players trooped back on the ice they were a different team.

Victoria City In Smart Exhibition To Win Cup Match

Surprise Soccer Followers By Handing Victoria West 6 to 4 Setback

Gibson and Youson Lead Goal-scorers

Frank Patrick Has Operation

Victoria City's rapidly improving Coast League first division football team pulled off the surprise of the current season on Saturday afternoon at the Athletic Park, by turning back the Victoria Wests, 6 to 4, in the semi-final of the Milton Cup knockout-series. The City, by its victory, earned the right to meet the Saanich Thistles in the final for the silverware. The City proved far the better team on the afternoon's play and well deserved to win. The match attracted a fair crowd which was treated to a mediocre exhibition.

The ten goals registered by the two sides represent the highest scoring spree in a Coast League match this season. The entire City team, from goalie Gordie Chalmers out, turned in a smart performance. Chalmers was at his best and in the latter stages of the game, with the Wests pressing hard, he pulled off a number of great saves. The four goals that did him were impossible to block. The City forward line functioned smoothly, using a fast-breaking offensive to beat the greenhorns. The Wests, on the other hand, were seen at their worst. The lucky Art Hood in goal turned in his poorest exhibition this season, and of the six goals scored against him, three were of the soft variety. However, he got little protection from his back division. The usually clever forward line of the greenhorns was far off form with Harry Youson, outside left, being the only scoring threat, and was good for three goals. Terry Peers snared the other goal for the Wests. Gibson was the high scorer for the City with three to his credit. The other three corners were split between Holmes, Davidson and Magee.

EARLY SCORING

The City opened the match with only ten men, but Magee arrived after four minutes to bring the club to full strength. In the open House, the City had a fine chance to score when Holmes was in front of the goal with a clear shot but drove over the bar. The Wests broke away at a short-passing attack and a shot from Betttridge slipped across the goalmouth to miss the corner by inches. The City forged into the lead when Magee beat Hood with a long shot following a corner kick. The centre-half sent in a high lob from well out, the ball hitting the crossbar and dropping on Hood's back into the net. It should have been an easy save. The Wests attacked and lost no time in equalizing with the prettiest goal of the match. Working the ball over to the right wing, Magee sent over a perfect cross and Youson headed it into the corner.

Goals continued to come fast and it was not more than four minutes later when the City again took the lead. Davidson, heading, Hood following a centre from right wing by Alex. Murray. At the other end Musgrave worked in close to drive a hard shot for the corner, but Chalmers leaped up to gather in the ball and clear. The City went two goals up when Holmes took a pass from Sage in the goalmouth and side the 4 to 1 victory they scored over them in Montreal earlier in the season. The second game, played here Saturday night, saw the McGill crew have to work hard for victory.

BOXERS GIVE BANG-UP SHOW

Three Knockouts in Amateur Benefit Card at Tillicum Gymnasium

Liberally sprinkling the card with knockouts, Victoria amateur fighters presented a bang-up programme at the Pacific Stadium Saturday evening as they staged their benefit show for unemployed single men of the city. About 300 attended the bouts.

In the 135-pound class, Gordon Trellis gained a decision over Billy Mair. In the featherweight division, Gordon Hunter, provincial title-holder in that class, defeated D. Caird via the kayo route in the second round. Caird was a game boy, but could not stand up against his more experienced opponent.

In the light-heavy section, Chuck Gould went down and stayed down from short right to the body delivered by Albert Douglas in the final round.

Bob Keith won a lightweight bout from Charles Jordan by a referee's decision, while Ronald Kelsey gained the call over Gordon Dark in the 116 class.

GOOD EXHIBITION

Carrying the fight all the way, Jack Church gained a verdict over Jack Watson.

In another light-heavy bout, Vic Vaherese knocked out close bout, first round of their exhibition with a pretty left jab to the chin.

Warburton gained a judge's decision over Paterson in another close bout. Ralph Hocking and Roy Lund provided a pretty exhibition before Ed Blaquiere gained a decision over Charlie Storch in the final bout on the card.

Stan James refereed and Scott McKay and Al Davies officiated as judges.

Violent Scenes Mark Match in England Between Aston Villa and Tottenham

POLICE CALLED TO WALK LINES

Canadian Press
London, Jan. 8.—Arsenal to-day clung to leadership of the first division of the English Football League, but could do no better Saturday than hold Sheffield Wednesday to a 1 to 1 tie. Death of their manager, Herbert Chapman, appeared to have taken the steam out of the Gunners. A 4 to 0 victory by Huddersfield Town over Plymouth and Derby County's 2 to 1 defeat by Blackburn Rovers put the County and Huddersfield in a tie for second place.

Chapman's death sent many players onto fields with black bands on their arms. The league observed a silence of one minute in memory of the great mentor. At Highbury 50,000 fans stood bareheaded as a bugler sounded the "Last Post" and "Reveille" before the Arsenal-Wednesday match. Gunners lacked their usual punch as the game started, and Sheffield attacked relentlessly, scoring through Dwyer, new centre-forward from Manchester United, in the thirty-fifth minute. Dunne tied the score just at the interval, and the Wednesday threatened throughout most of the second half.

SPECTATORS GO WILD
Tottenham Hotspur walloped Aston Villa 5 to 1 in a game that was marred by violent behaviour on the part of the spectators. Popular disapproval of the refereeing rose to a high pitch in the second half when a player was off the field. A shower of fruit and bottles swept from the stands onto the field and police reserves had to be called to patrol the touch line. The crowd kept up an incessant booing. Spurs were dangerous from the opening whistle. Hunt broke away but his shot was charged down only to be picked up by McCormick, who scored, to be followed by Meads. Hunt and Howe brought two more goals before the interval. Villa's defenders had a hectic time as McCormick dribbled the ball right through them and scored. Astley scored the Villa's only goal after the game had reached a semblance of a dog fight.

RETAILS BIG LEAD
Grimsby Town kept its six-point lead in the second division, defeating Oldham Athletic 2 to 1 while Blackpool beat Bradford City 3 to 2. Port Vale downed Southampton 4 to 1 and Bolton Wanderers took a 2 to 0 triumph from Plymouth Argyle. The results placed Blackpool, Bolton and Port Vale in a three-cornered tie for second place.

Norwich City took the lead of the southern section of the third division, defeating Swindon Town 3 to 2, while Queen's Park Rangers slipped to fourth place by taking a 4 to 2 beating from Aldershot. Coventry City's 5 to 1 victory over Crystal Palace secured the second place, while Charlton Athletic went into third position by defeating Cardiff City 2 to 0.

The match between Norwich and Swindon was a stirring one. Fisher gave Swindon a lead of one goal before half time. Norwich came back hard and Burdett scored the equalizer just after one hour's play. The big thriller came in the last three minutes when Warren and Williams scored for Norwich and Fisher got his second for Swindon.

Chesterfield stayed far in the lead of the northern section by defeating Accrington Stanley, but interest centred in Stockport County's thirteen-goal whitewash of Halifax Town, a record. The previous league scoring record was set in 1919 when Notts Forest defeated Leicester 12 to 0.

Glasgow, Scotland, Jan. 8.—Queen of Scotland, the "Giant-Killer," defeated mighty Motherwell in Scottish Football League first division warfare Saturday and the tail-end Cowdenbeath eleven nearly played the same trick on Glasgow Rangers, league champions. Rangers finally won 4 to 3.

Motherwell, leaders of the league all season, were beaten 2 to 1 right on their home grounds by the fighting Queen of Scotland. It was only the second defeat for Motherwell this season. Wylie scored for the leaders, while McGowan and Cumming got the winners' goals.

The Queens have beaten Celtic and Hearts previously. Motherwell's defeat resulted in cutting their lead over Rangers to five points.

Cowdenbeath led at half-time in the struggle with Rangers, but the latter pulled up before the fray was over. Renfrew scored all three of the town team's goals, while Fleming, McPhail, Simpson and Nicholson scored for Rangers.

Wet weather and blustery winds, with raining soft grounds, marked most of the Scottish matches.

Aberdeen lost 4 to 0 at Partick Thistle and thereby lost undisputed possession of third place, being forced to share with Hearts, who tied Third Lanark 1 to 1. Bain and Miller each scored twice against Aberdeen. Mc-

HAS TOUGH LUCK

Four times Bob Godwin, above, has fought a draw with Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight king. The last time, in a recent bout at West Palm Beach, Fla., the decision of Referee Joe Riccio brought a storm of protest. There was no doubt among spectators that Godwin won by a clear margin.

Culloch got Third Lanark's counter, while Maiste scored for Hearts. The second division leadership was clutched by Dunfermline as they defeated Swindon Town 3 to 2, while the mercurial Dunfermline were beaten 4 to 1 by the Morton outfit, relegated this season.

Seattle Hawks Are In Third Position

Defeat Calgary 3 to 2 in Overtime in Northwestern Hockey League

Calgary, Jan. 8.—Third place in the Northwestern Hockey League is occupied to-day by Seattle. Sea Hawks as result of their 3 to 2 overtime victory over Calgary Tigers here Saturday night. Lloyd Jackson, recruit who joined the Seattle club in Edmonton last week, scored the deciding goal on a pass from Tony Hemmerling.

Starting rather slow, the game lived up after Whittles scored Seattle's first goal, Powley getting the assist. It was the only point of the opening frame. Play speeded up in the second because of several penalties. Johnny Houbregts tied the score up twice, getting his first goal on a pass from Blyth, while Anderson and Gilbooy were in the penalty box, and the second in a scramble while Fraser was off just before the end of the period. Tabor counted Seattle's second goal less than half a minute after Houbregts' first score.

GOAL DISALLOWED
The goal crease, introduced to hockey this year, robbed Sea Hawks of a goal in the third period. Powley's pass was taken by Hank Dyck in this forbidden area, and his shot into the net was disallowed. Play kept on at top speed, but most of the rushes were broken up before they reached the net. Many other shots went past the corners, missed by only a few inches. Jackson was right through once, but shot right at McCusker, who was down on his knees waiting for the drive.

The speedy Sea Hawks lost little time, however, in the overtime. Hemmerling stickhandled his way through four Calgary players, got clear past the blue line and passed ahead to Jackson, who ended the game with a hard shot from close in. McCusker had little chance of saving it.

SUMMARY
First period—1. Seattle, Whittles (Powley), 11:15. Penalty: Dyck.
Second period—2. Calgary, Houbregts (Blyth), 11:20; 3. Seattle, Tabor, 11:45; 4. Calgary, Houbregts, 19:03. Penalties: Sutherland, Gilbooy (2), Anderson, Harris, Whittles, Fraser.
Third period—No score. Penalties: Anderson, Sutherland, Fraser, Harris, Jackson.
Overtime period—5. Seattle, Jackson (Hemmerling), 9:10. Penalty: None.

PARELLI WINS AGAINST KIRK

Takes Main Wrestling Bout at Tillicum Gym With Two Straight Falls

With a little gouging, a little biting, a little punching and a series of flying mares, Joe Parelli gained a two-fall victory over Joe Kirk, Boston, in the main event on the wrestling card at the Tillicum gym on Saturday evening.

Parelli took the first fall in the fourth round with flying mares and then finished the fight in the next canto with a reverse body slam.

Showing a vast improvement over his last appearance here, Baptiste Paul, local Indian, gained a draw with Red Lyons, Joplin.

Paul took the first fall in the opening round with a series of headlocks but let Lyons even up matters in the second when the Indian dropped his shoulders to the ropes and let in a leg lock. Neither was able to gain the deciding fall despite two rugged rounds.

Gunners Take First Half Title Without Score Against Them

Charlie Morton's Boys White-wash Scottish 14 to 0 in Deciding Rugby Game

J.B.A.A. Too Strong For Weakened Navy

Jauntily perched on their youthful brows, Charlie Morton's squad of young Fifth Brigade rugger were the mythical crowns emblematic of championship in the first half of Victoria's senior A rugby league, and their record books showed a row of zeros in the "scored against" column to-day. On Saturday, at Oak Bay Park, while a lone piper skirled away at pibrochs that might well have been laments, the Gunners moved down a hard-fighting bunch of Scots who individually turned in hard battles. It was the old story of a cohesive team playing real rugby against an aggregation of stars and near stars who could not combine—as the Brigade gained its 14 to 0 victory.

And while the Gunners clinched the first half without having their line crossed, Bob McInnes' Boys romped through the Navy to hang up a 16 to 3 victory.

Benefitting from the conditioning and training Morton has given them throughout the season, the Gunners were full value for their win. Virtually all good backfield movements were performed by the artillerymen's side. Their tackling was good, kicking smart and that punct that completes a movement was seldom lacking when the Brigade got started.

REFEREE HURT
Referee Grey was the first casualty of the match when he collided with a Scottish player and went down.

Showing some of the class that carried them to the top in other seasons, the Highlanders opened on the attack. Chuck Copeland and Pat Parr leading a dribble into the Gunners' ground. McInnes finally cleared with a free kick.

Gaunt and Stipe continued the advantage and gained the Highlanders' territory where, following a ten-yard scrum, Gaunt and Gribble combined on a nice run that just failed to count. The Scottish bucked back, but the fifth returned on a nice movement that was halted when one of the backs passed forward.

Bryden finally cleared with a kick as the Gunners continued to press. Rowe and Gribble featured in smart runs before the Highlanders bucked back to midfield.

SEVEN MINUTES from the start, Gribble snagged a loose ball twenty-five yards out and smashed through at the corner flag for the first try on a nice run that just failed to count. The Scottish bucked back, but the fifth returned on a nice movement that was halted when one of the backs passed forward.

The Highlanders tried hard during the remainder of the half. Copeland got away on a kicking rush that carried the Scottish to the Gunners' twenty-five. Marling tried a free kick in that territory when one of the Brigade played offside, but the effort failed and the half ended without further score.

With a high-kicking attack, Fleming got away but was forced out near the flag. Tye and Bryden combined to relieve tension, but the Brigade caught right back to force at the Highlanders' five-yard line.

OVER ON FUMBLE

Colgate fumbled a high punt by Rowe on his own ten-yard line. The fifth swarmed down and hustled him off the ball and Sid Gaunt picked it up to go over for another try. The kick failed.

Muirhead cleared when the Gunners returned and Harry Robson was forced from the game for a short time with a crack in the ribs.

Again the Gunners swarmed down. Colgate failed to get away with a clearance he should have made. Rowe picked up the ball and whipped it to Gribble on the wing. The lanky three-ripped down the side-lines and smashed through two Scots who tried to stop him to get the ball across for the final try. Five minutes after his predecessor. The kick failed again.

SEOTS PRESS
For several minutes the Highlanders flung themselves at their opposition on a series of desperate but disorganized attacks. Gribble was gassed in his own territory and the Glen Warple boys forged down to the Gunners' line. McInnes touched down for a two-point kick when they put the ball over.

In the shadow of their rivals' goalposts the Scots continued to pressure but could not break through. Buller finally relieved with a dribble to the Highlanders' ground. McInnes missed an attempt at a goal from the Scot's twenty-five when one of the kilties handled in the loose.

The Scottish made one more attempt before the final whistle, but could not break through.

Grey refereed and the teams lined up as follows:
Canadian Scottish—Colgate, Horne, Copeland, Bryden, Bulmer, Tye, Robson, Marling, Rockingham, Parr, Beckett, Gardiner, Muirhead, Campbell, May.
Fifth Brigade—McInnes, Gribble, S. Gaunt, D. Scott, Fleming, Rowe, Stipe, Buller, Hagston, Stewart, Dowell, A. Gaunt, Hobson, Eastham and de Blaquiere.
HAYS WIN
Coming back in great style after the rest interval, James Bay Athletic Association handed the Navy a 16 to 3 defeat at Admirals' Road in the other senior A fixture.
Godfrey Parrott, six-day bike rider playing his first game in two years, earned in a sensational performance at full-back for the osarsmen.

The sailors gained their lone tally in the opening canto, forcing over in a scramble early in the game. The kick failed.

Shortly after the resumption of play in the second half, Addison raced through on a pretty back-field movement but was forced into touch before he could get the ball down.

Robbins scored shortly after when a cross-kick came to him to give the rowing club its first points. Rogers added the extra points on the kick.

Addison added another tally a few minutes later and Usher followed quickly. Robbins converted Usher's try. Just before the final whistle Rogers went across for the final try of the day.

The Navy team was bolstered up with Wanderers players several of the sailors' stars having been lost through the annual cruise.

Line-ups follow:
Navy—Sweet, Paul, Symons, Locke, McDonald, Gann, Christie, Briggs, Nixon, Corbin, King, Jones, Corville, A. Jones and Swetnam.

J.B.A.A.—Parrott, Addison, Carmichael, Temple, Dunn, Brown, McKenna, Peard, Robbins, Lemm, George, Schultz, Petticrew and Usher.

TOMMIES SWAMPED
When the Garrison had scored forty-three points, while holding their opposition, the Tommies, converted, the teams left the field with the second half incomplete in the senior B fixture at Work Point. Polinsky scored three tallies, Buxton two and Galbraith, Lee, Pocock, Rowton, Stewart, Woodrow and Martin one apiece.

Bobby Ferguson's hard-working Victoria College boys ran through Oak Bay Wanderers to an 8 to 0 victory to win first-half intermediate honors at Victoria High School ground. Bob McInnes scored on a pass from Hanks and Ware converted. Later in the half, Ware went over for the other try.

J.B.A.A. Intermediates came from behind to beat the Fifth Brigade 8 to 6.

NEW SWIMMING CLUB FORMED

Formation of a new swimming club here, the Victoria Seals, with the objective of improving the standard of scientific swimming, was announced to-day.

The new organization, with W. Emerson as president, is now applying to the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association for affiliation and will start operations immediately.

The club will use the Crystal Garden as headquarters, having Saturday evening as club night. Swimming sessions will start at 7 o'clock on that evening. Rev. Robert Connell, M.P.P. has been named honorary president; G. Schwabe, secretary; Ernest Emerson, treasurer; Keith Emerson, senior club captain, and W. Holyoake, instructor. Holyoake, a veteran swimmer, will look after the coaching duties in the new club.

When finances permit, the club will strike special medals to be awarded to swimmers making the best time over three distances.

Swimmers over the age of fourteen may secure further particulars about the new organization from G. Schwabe, 75 Linden Avenue.

Wheat Prices Fall Slightly At Close On Winnipeg Market

Winnipeg, Jan. 8.—Wheat prices developed an easing tendency on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day as the market entered the final stages, and closing quotations showed an over-the-week-end loss of 1/2 cent.

Lack of interest on both the buying and selling side of the market accounted for the meagre downturn, and values slipped off under their own weight. May wheat closed at 65 1/2 and July at 66 1/2 cents.

Quotations hovered around previous closing levels most of the day and little action of any consequence developed. Export sales of 250,000 bushels of Canadian wheat was reported worked out of Vancouver, but this was not reflected in the pit.

Chicago quotations hung around the previous close, while Liverpool price finished unchanged to 1/4 higher.

Only small quantities of cash grain changed hands, but there was a better demand for No. 1 and 2 northern for shipment at the opening of navigation. Coarse grain prices were comparatively steady.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(Associated Press.)—Awaiting fresh developments at Washington, especially in regard to monetary conditions, grain to-day held about steady with Saturday's close.

Wheat closed easy, unchanged to 1/4 lower compared with Saturday's finish; corn unchanged to 1/4 higher; oats 1/2 to 3/4 up, and provisions varying from seven cents decline to a rise of 20 cents.

BENNETT SCANS WORKS SCHEMES

Premier, En Route to Vancouver, Says Canada Must Proceed Cautiously

Calgary, Jan. 8.—Prime Minister Bennett, who to-day is en route to Vancouver, indicated in an interview here yesterday he is not adverse to public works programmes for the relief of unemployment, but observed great caution was necessary in launching such undertakings.

Great caution must be exercised, he said, in the increasing of Canada's national debt, which is already a higher per capita than that of the United States. Therefore, the Prime Minister added, full value must be obtained if public works were to be launched for the benefit of the unemployed, and the season of the year in which such programmes might be undertaken had much to do with the value likely to be obtained from money expended.

Conditions in Canada had shown a marked improvement, Mr. Bennett told the interviewer. Improvement had been noted in the west and the wheat situation had a much more hopeful aspect, Canada had a surplus carry-over of about 200,000,000 bushels, but this would be reduced, he believed, by 50,000,000 bushels before the end of the crop year. Australia's adverse crop conditions would considerably assist Canada.

Mr. Bennett, who arrived in Calgary yesterday morning, spent the day quietly visiting friends. He was guest at a private luncheon at noon and left for the coast in the evening.

Mr. Bennett has three engagements in Vancouver—an afternoon address before the Women's Canadian Club on Tuesday, an address at the annual dinner of the Vancouver Board of Trade Tuesday evening and a luncheon engagement with young men's organization on Wednesday. The Premier is scheduled to leave for Ottawa at 2:45 p.m. Wednesday.

It is expected Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance and Acting Premier, will head the B.C. Government party which will officially welcome Premier Bennett to Vancouver this evening. Premier Pattullo is ill at Prince Rupert, where he stopped on his way east to Ottawa.

Mr. Sinclair is expected to issue a statement in a few days, outlining his relations with the party and Mr. Hepburn.

NEW ONTARIO LIBERAL CHIEF

Dr. G. A. McQuibban Will Be House Leader at Pre-election Session

By Jack Hanlon, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Jan. 8.—Prepared to join with the Progressive group in a mass attack against the Conservative government of Premier George S. Henry, Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature had a new House leader to-day in the person of Dr. George A. McQuibban, member for Wellington northeast since 1928.

Meeting in caucus here Saturday, Ontario Liberal members voted nine to one for Dr. McQuibban as leader in place of W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C. No official statement came from the caucus room, but inability of Mr. Hepburn and Mr. Sinclair to come to an agreement on policy was reported to be the reason for the members' decision.

ELECTION IN SIGHT.

Dr. McQuibban and Harry C. Nixon, leader of the Progressive group of five, will co-operate in the coming session, the last before a general election. Mr. Nixon pledged his support in a statement Sunday. "So far as I am concerned, there will be the closest harmony and co-operation from the Progressive group," he declared.

"The members of the Legislature," said Mr. Hepburn, "exercised their right to select their own House leader. They have elected Dr. McQuibban. I can assure you we are the closest of personal friends and in sympathy with each other. We will co-operate to the fullest extent and I think work well together."

Mr. Sinclair is expected to issue a statement in a few days, outlining his relations with the party and Mr. Hepburn.

LETTER QUOTED.

Since 1931, when Mr. Hepburn had declared "The leadership in the House rests entirely on Mr. Sinclair," he had received no communication from the provincial leader, said Mr. Sinclair. In February of that year, he had asked Mr. Hepburn to attend a caucus, and the latter had replied: "In view of the fact that I am not an elected member of the Ontario Legislature, I prefer not to make any appearance at the Parliament Buildings during the session. Such a visit would doubtless be used by our opponents to infer dual control and I wish it understood that the leadership in the House rests entirely in you as House leader."

"I do not wish to be a party to any action that would cause the slightest embarrassment to you or to any other member in the Legislature and I am sure that you, as House leader of the Liberal Party, and the members themselves reciprocate that feeling."

If You Want to Ruin Your Son's Happiness Tell Him His Wife Is a Total Loss—But If You Want Him to Be Happy Welcome Her Into the Family and Make Much of Her Accomplishments

TEN RULES FOR BEING A GOOD MOTHER-IN-LAW
TO BE a good mother-in-law is one of the most difficult roles that any woman ever has thrust upon her. It requires the wisdom of Solomon, the patience of Job, the finesse of a diplomat, the self-abnegation of a martyr, the self-control of a stoic and Eve's knowledge of herself. And then some. Not always does the exercise of even these qualities insure success in dealing with your son's bride, but if you will follow these ten rules for being an ideal mother-in-law, it will help:

FIRST—DON'T GIVE YOUR SON'S WIFE A REFRIGERATOR WELCOME INTO THE FAMILY. It will chill whatever warmth of affection she may feel toward you and the chances are you may never be able to defrost her again. Perhaps you are one of the possessive mothers to whom it is almost a death blow to give up your son to any woman. Perhaps you objected to the particular girl he married. You don't like her religion. Or her parents. Or her manners. Or the way she dresses. So you are rather cool to her and in some subtle feminine way you give her to understand that you consider her an interloper and not good enough for your august circle.

Don't make that fatal mistake. No daughter-in-law ever loves the woman who has tried to keep her husband from marrying her. No woman ever forgives being taken into a family on sufferance. So, if you find your son is in love with a girl and is going to marry her anyway, don't antagonize his future wife and make an enemy of her before they are married. Accept the fact and give her the glad hand, and that will at least get you off to a good start.

SECOND—MAKE FRIENDS WITH YOUR DAUGHTER-IN-LAW. Go to any trouble to propitiate her. Use all the tact and charm you possess in winning her liking, because your hold upon your son is going to be just as strong as your hold upon his wife, and no stronger.

If she is fond of you and your relationship is cordial, there will still be intimacy between you. He will still be popping in and out of the house and calling you up on the phone and remembering anniversaries and coming to see you on holidays. But if you have alienated his wife she will separate him from you, and he will neglect you rather than have scenes with her about paying mother any attention.

THIRD—DON'T BE JEALOUS OF YOUR DAUGHTER-IN-LAW NOR RESENT HIS PREFERENCE FOR HIS WIFE TO YOU. After all, what you desire is his happiness, and if he still loved you better than he did his wife and turned to you for understanding and companionship, it would mean that his marriage was a failure.

When a man marries, his mother should turn him over to his wife with her blessing and step aside gracefully. She should no longer try to be the dominant influence in his life. She should cede that right to his wife. And in thus giving up her son freely and willingly to his wife she holds him far more securely than she would if she fought over him with her like two cats over a bone. For no man is more miserable than the one who is torn to pieces between his wife and his mother.

FOURTH—DON'T BE A CRITIC ON YOUR DAUGHTER-IN-LAW'S HEARTH. Don't always be looking for flaws and defects. Don't always be spying around to see if she sweeps under the beds and what she throws into the garbage can. Be blind to her faults and very kind to her virtues.

Her ways aren't your ways, but what of it? There is nothing sacrosanct about your recipe for lemon pie, or the kind of wax you use in polishing floors, nor is it any moral sin to use dollies instead of tablecloths for dinner.

Just remember that a new generation has come in, with new theories and ideas and customs and standards, and maybe they are just as good as the old, or even better, and, anyway, they are probably no more objectionable to you than yours were to your mother-in-law. No doubt your mother-in-law trembled just as much for her son's digestion and pocketbook as you do for yours, yet nothing happened to him, and you turned out to be a pretty good wife after all.

FIFTH—NEVER KNOCK YOUR DAUGHTER-IN-LAW TO HER HUSBAND. Boost her stock to him. Never depress it. Be her press-agent. Never open his eyes to her shortcomings.

Men don't know much about women when they get married. They don't know what to expect of a wife, and half the time they would never find out that their wives were total losses if their mothers didn't tell them so. It is mother who points out to John that Mary gads too much, or that Sally is extravagant and buys too many hats, or that Nancy plays bridge when she should be looking after the children, or that Lucy is the world's worst cook.

Just remember that when you make your son dissatisfied with his wife you have begun knocking the foundation stone out from under his home. Don't be guilty of this crime unless you want to bring scandal and divorce into your family and misery to your son, and unless you want to half-orphan your grandchildren.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

IT IS THEORETICALLY POSSIBLE FOR A PIGEON BREEDER TO START WITH A DOZEN PAIRS OF BIRDS AND HAVE 960 SQUABS AT THE END OF 12 MONTHS!

LUD PAKS ARE MADE FROM VOLCANIC ASH! COAL TAR IS USED IN HER PERFORMANCES AND IN HER GARMENT DYES! SILK STOCKINGS CONTAIN TIN, AND CHROMIUM IS USED IN TANNING HER SHOES.

The GULF STREAM CARRIES 3 THOUSAND TIMES AS MUCH WATER AS THE MISSISSIPPI!

SEVENTEEN days are required for pigeon eggs to hatch, and the hen goes to laying again two weeks later. The breeder would see his flock multiplying rapidly after the fifth month, for the young of the first hatch would be old enough then to start laying. It is doubtful if such a record ever has been obtained in actual practice, however.
